

Deana Hirst

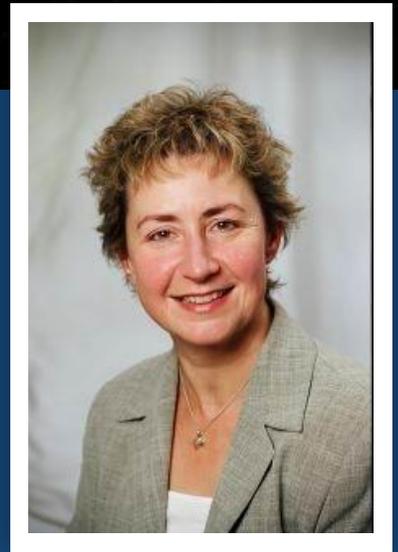

Associate Consultant

Deana is a learning and development specialist with in-depth experience in people development. She focuses on the design and delivery of management skills, assessment, communication and leadership programmes.

In addition to learning and development, Deana has also worked in an operational service management role. After successfully working through a four way merger, she became independent in 1997.

An intense commitment to deliver only the best quality is what has brought Deana and TPC together. She is great at inventing engaging, effective solutions that are practical, cost effective and enjoyable – both for participants and those involved in delivering them.

Deana has an interest in Astronomy and enjoys several pastimes that involve the countryside.

Specialist areas

- Design: from organisation-wide development programmes through to individual and small team innovative, creative development solutions - including film and social media
- Delivery: managing assessment and programme delivery, running management and communication skills workshops, facilitating learning groups and bespoke events for small numbers.
- Coaching and mentoring: working as a performance coach to Director level staff and providing coaching /mentoring consultancy and skills development.

Selection of Deana's Client Experiences

- RBI UK – Design and delivery of Sales Management Development Centre and Content Leaders Development Programme
- Northamptonshire Foundation Healthcare Trust – Design and delivery of Management Development Centre and case study
- Marie Curie – Team Development Workshops
- Environment Agency – Design and production of Multimedia Learning and Communication materials
- Scotia Bank – Research, analysis and design of selection tool
- Towry Law – Design and delivery of Management Skills Workshops
- Skanska – Design of Risk Management Case Study and development workshops